August 6 is Wiggle Your Toes Day

We know Callie has pretty toes, WD has paws, and Tangles has no toes (we love ya Tangles). What kind of toes do you have? Wiggle them and check them out? 😊 Is your second toe longer than the first one? What do you think about your toes?

Here's a guide to basic toe-reading

What each of the toes on the right foot stands for, according to toe reader Marie Bernat:

Big toe: Destiny. Wrinkles indicate changes in your life.

Second toe: Communication toe. If it is longer than your big toe, it indicates leadership potential.

Third toe: Passion and anger. If it's squared-off, you tend to take your anger out on others.

Fourth toe: Relationships. A squared-off toe says the person likes to play the field, while wrinkles indicate a lack of commitment.

Fifth toe: Security (financial, physical and emotional). If it is straight with a rounded pad and thick trunk, you feel very good about the decisions you make.

More advanced reading techniques involve multiple toes. For example, in evaluating a potential significant other, Bernat says to beware of "player toes," occurring when the third and fourth toes curve toward each other to form an "O." The curve on the passion and anger toe (the third) shows the person invests a lot of passion and emotion in relationships, but the curve on the fourth toe indicates relationships to be short-lived. The combination means a smooth-talking charmer who won't be around long.

My toes are stairsteps in size but my little toenail grows up. Makes quite a weapon when necessary. I can also pick up lots of things with my toes.
